PRIMER OF THE BATTALION ATTACK—DRILL

BY LIEUT. COL. B. C. TILGHMAN, JR., THIRD INFANTRY

(Copyrighted)

THE following Attack Formation Drill has been used by the author in his Officers' Schools and Battalion Drills. It has seemed easier to get results by first perfecting a drill of this kind and then impressing upon the company commanders that it is only a type to be departed from whenever circumstances render it advisable, than to endeavor to teach them the proper handling of their men under varying circumstances, and then to combine such instruction in the attack. The U. S. Infantry Drill regulations have been closely followed except in the omission of line of sections, as the ordinary platoon, for drill, is never strong enough to divide into larger units than squads.

The regulation of the fire and the progress of the attack by the orders of the battalion commander are for drill purposes at first. Later he can quietly warn the officers in command of the firing line when to assume the different formations and require the commanders of the rear eschelons to properly conform thereto. Later still the conditions of the supposed attack can be alone stated and all officers required to properly conduct their commands in conformity therewith.

Likewise many or most of the commands of the platoon and squad leaders may, and later should, be given by signal. The full text of the orders is given in the text as the most concise method of showing what they should cause their men to do. Scouts and combat patrol, covering the flanks, may be used, but their movements have no fixed relation to those of the battalion.

NOTES

The right center and left center companies should be made alternately the base companies, and the flank companies often brought into the center of the battalion until all know their duties in the various positions.

Then the flank companies can be designated for the fighting line. In this case the extension would be the same except each would deploy their line of squads inward so as to cover the front of the battalion, in place of outward. That is, the right company would take the commands set down for the left center company and the left company those of the right center company. By constant use of such variations the rigid character of drill will be eliminated from the formation and officers and men alike will be brought to see that results are what is desired—in the proper formation and constant reinforcement of the firing line—and will soon instinctively adopt those best suited to the ground and the supposed conditions of the attack.

CAMP NOTES

Quartermasters, Commissaries and Mess Committees, during the season of encampment, would do well to place their orders with the following:

Jacob A. Lewis, the leading provision dealer of Perkasie, handles only the best quality meats and has facilities for prompt delivery. Prices will be special from July 18th to 21st, inclusive.

Mr. P. S. Cressman, who is the proprietor of the American House, Perkasie, Pa., where the families of the principal officers of the Guard will be quartered, is prepared to accommodate a limited number of guests at commercial rates. The House is centrally located, being diagonally opposite the P. & R. Station and is the junction for two electric car lines. Mr. Cressman will also furnish an excellent dinner at 40 cents.

Mr. J. G. Moer, who supplied Headquarters with all the lumber, will deliver at short notice any quantity required for individual use, and a reasonable amount will be paid for such lumber that is cut and used to advantage.

Mr. G. A. Straub is the only bottler in this locality, and his facilities for serving the different commands cannot be surpassed. Mr. Straub is the sole agent for the Adam Scheidt Brewing Co.'s beer, Norristown, Pa., which is considered equal to the Pabst Milwaukee. Orders will be received at all times for the Adam Scheidt Famous Standard and Lotos Beer, Bartholomew Rochester, and all brands of whiskey, wines, etc., Quakertown, Pa.

Morris A. Clymer, of Sellersville, who is serving the Brigade with hay and feed, is prepared to receive orders from private parties and will deliver same at shortest notice.

D. S. Neidig, 115 East Broad street, Quakertown, Pa., proprietor of the Continental Restaurant, will be pleased to have the members of the National Guard visit his place. The service is first-class and only city prices will be charged. Special rooms will be reserved for small parties. Electric cars pass the door.

Mr. Wm. H. Davis, who is the General Superintendent of the Quakertown Traction Company, and who was instrumental in having the First Brigade encamp at Perkasie, is making special arrangements to accommodate the many visitors attending the encampment. A regular schedule of the Quakertown Traction Company will be found in another column.

H. H. Souder, proprietor of the famous Bush House, Quakertown, Pa., is directly opposite the railway station and the electric cars pass within a few steps of the hotel. Officers and members of the National Guard desiring to have their families and friends locate here during the encampment will find the accommodations at this hostelrie first-class, and special rates will be furnished on application. A first-class bar is attached to this establishment.

M. C. Detweiler is the leading baker in Quakertown and will be prepared to furnish the several messes with bread, cakes, pies, etc., at wholesale prices. Quartermaster Sergeants and Mess Committees will find it to their advantage in dealing with Mr. Detweiler.

E. S. Jacoby & Son, Sellersville, Pa., about ten minutes ride from camp, are the leading merchants in this locality in general merchandise. They have made special efforts to supply the wants of the different commands with a full line of groceries and provisions, cots, etc.

There is only one drug store and soda water fountain in Perkasie where all kinds of drugs, medicines, chemicals and physician's supplies can be had. Prescriptions will receive prompt attention. Mr. Harry Neamand is the proprietor and is a graduate of the National Institute of Pharmacy. He is also Secretary of the Board of Trade of Perkasie. A local and long distance telephone exchange has been established at this pharmacy with special facilities for members and friends of the National Guard.

Mr. H. I. Moyer, of Perkasie, is prepared to furnish the several Quartermasters and Commissaries with ice at the lowest possible figure. The Brigade trade is solicited.

THE "hot air story" emanating from a country newspaper that General Miller and his staff would not be quartered at the Third Brigade encampment this year, was ridiculous in the extreme, and exploded when Colonel William F. Richardson received his orders to pitch the tents for General, Division and Third Brigade Headquarters, which work has just been completed.

UNVEILING OF SOLDIERS' MONUMENT AT READING, PA.

The unveiling of the Soldiers' Monument dedicated to the memory of the First Defenders, took place at Reading, July 4th. Prior to the ceremony a street parade took place in which many organizations participated. Companies "A" and "I" of the 4th Infantry, commanded by Captains Machamer and Seider, presented a very creditable appearance in their State regulation fibre dyed duck uniforms. The marching and alignment of these two companies was very fine. The First Defenders Association and McLean Post, with their famous Guard, followed. Next in line came the Sons of Veterans and their firing squads, who in a great measure assimilated our State troops. A battalion of the Boys' Brigade with one company composed of colored lads, attracted considerable attention. The little fellows handled their rifles well and went through the foot movements in good style and received frequent applause during the line of march. The military feature was followed by the Patriotic Order Sons of America. One camp in particular was preceded by two drummers and one fifer dressed in continental uniform, representing the spirit of "1776." The uniform commandery of this Order from Lebanon attracted considerable attention by performing various evolutions while on the march. The left of the line was brought up by the Order of Red Men, who were out in their full regalia and war paint.

The monument, which is a granite affair, is situated on Penn Common. It is beautiful in design, showing a soldier of the First Defenders. It was made by the celebrated firm of P. F. Eisenbrown Sons & Co.

Personal Mention

The firm of Hill & Connell, 121 North Washington avenue, Scranton, Pa., furnished the new Armory of the Thirteenth Regiment with its magnificent desks and other hard wood furniture.

First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon J. Warren Bauman, Third Infantry, whose residence is at Lansdale, is on detail as medical officer of the camping party.

The members of Captain Mihlbauer's Company "K," of the 6th, are making extensive mess arrangements for the coming encampment. They have awarded the contract to a Philadelphia caterer at an expense of $250.

There is some talk of Captains Walters and Schuyler marching Companies "D" and "A" of the 6th to camp. Each of these commands are about twenty-eight miles from Perkasie. Captain Walters may start July 18th.

One of the gentlemen who is largely responsible for the First Brigade encampment being held at Perkasie is Mr. W. H. Davis, General Superintendent of the Quakertown Traction Company. Mr. Davis is an uncle of Major William S. Allen, First Infantry.

First Lieutenant and Battalion Adjutant Walter A. Gunster, Thirteenth Infantry, has received an appointment as Second Lieutenant in the regular establishment. It is said that the Honorable William Connell greatly assisted in securing his appointment.

Captain John M. Dunn, formerly of the First Delaware, was recently mustered out with the 28th U. S. Volunteer Infantry. Captain Dunn has taken his examination for First Lieutenant in the regular establishment and expects to return to the Philippines.

Lieutenant Frank L. Mueller, Commissary of the First Infantry, has offered a prize consisting of a gold medal to the Company Quartermaster Sergeant showing greatest efficiency in manipulating the State rations for the company mess at the coming encampment. This is quite a unique idea and shows the progressive spirit existing in this department of the First Infantry.

During the strikes of 1877, Colonel Wendell P. Bowman was stationed at Scranton and commanded a battalion of the Twentieth Pennsylvania Infantry, composed of veterans of the rebellion. He recalls vividly the muster-in of the Scranton City Guard on the Common, a portion of his command being drawn up in line during the muster.

Just one year ago Colonel Albert J. Williams, First Infantry, assumed the management of "The Lorraine." His efforts to establish a first-class apartment house at Broad and Fairmount avenue have been entirely successful. Colonel Williams extends a cordial invitation to his many friends throughout the State to call on him when visiting Philadelphia.

Colonel Wm. F. Richardson has adopted a new cooking tent, which will be on exhibition during the coming encampment. It is made of brown canvas and the sun fly extends about eight feet in front and rear of the tent, which will greatly add to its coolness as well as preventing the storm beating in from the sides. The stove pipe will run under the tent floor, coming out on the side with an elbow and two vertical joints, thus insuring greater safety to the canvas. It is the Colonel's desire to have each company supplied with one of these for next year's encampment.

NAVAL RESERVE

Dr. Joseph Sailer, who is the only Naval Militia officer in either the Line or Staff departments who so far has succeeded in obtaining nothing but "Excellent" for all branches, in the examinations of the various Battalions by the Board of Regular Service officers who report annually to the Navy Department at the expiration of the Naval Militia cruises, has just been recommissioned Surgeon in the local Battalion.

Dr. Sailer, whose name indicates his true walk in life, resigned about six months ago owing to the press of professional duties, but Manifest Destiny has won and he is now back again with the Battalion much to the satisfaction of every one.

The members of Division "B" of the Naval Battalion are to be congratulated on their acquisition of A. S. Howard, whom they have just elected a Lieutenant (J. G.), in that Division. Mr. Howard is a graduate of the Class of 1900 of the Naval Academy and recently left the service to engage in business pursuits ashore. During the war, while a cadet, Mr. Howard served on board the U. S. S. Newark, which was on blockade duty off the Cuban coast. On board that vessel he was in command of the two for'd 6 pounders on the gun deck, and received some slight injuries on one occasion while in action, in the bombardment of the Spanish positions near the mouth of the harbor of Santiago, a couple of days before the destruction of Admiral Cervera's fleet.

E. A. Bowker & Co., 13th & Market Sts., Philadelphia, Pa., are prepared to supply the Captains and Mess Committees with such articles of groceries and provisions which the State does not issue. The prices are the lowest and the quality of the best. This firm has had several year's experience in supplying the different commands and this year have special facilities for the shipment of goods to Perkasie. All orders will receive careful attention. We respectfully solicit corespondence from the First, Second and Third Brigade commands.

EIGHTH REGIMENT NOTES

Hospital Day, for the benefit of the Pottsville Hospital, was observed on June 25th at Tumbling Run Park. One of the features of the celebration was the company and battalion drill given by Companies "H" and "K" of the Eighth Regiment and Company "F" of the Fourth. The many spectators seemed to be particularly interested in the setting up exercises and guard mount. In the latter ceremony the Third Brigade band assisted Captain Owens, who was in command of the provisional battalion.

Company "E" of the Eighth Infantry, stationed at Mahanoy City, took a practice march to Lakeside, where they encamped for several days, being accompanied by the regimental band of Tamaqua. The trip proved instructive as well as enjoyable.

FRENCH MILITARY COLONIZATION

General Gallieni, the military governor of Madagascar, is making successful efforts in military colonization in that island. Heretofore, somewhat similar experiments had been tried in other colonies, but they did not respond to the expectations. For instance, soldiers who had finished their service in the colonies were encouraged to settle there, certain facilities being accorded to them on the condition that they remained grouped in assigned villages and more or less under military discipline. Thus the soldier, becoming a colonist, recovered only a portion of his independence, and the offers were not for the most part considered acceptable by the soldiers, who preferred to return to their native country.

General Gallieni has put into practice another method which bids fair to succeed. He does not address himself to liberated soldiers, but to those who are yet in their third and last year of service; neither does he require the creation of villages where rural and domestic work would be regulated to the sound of the drum. He endeavors to fix on the soil men inspired by the sentiment of their responsibility and that of their personal interest.

The soldier desirous of remaining in the colony and presenting the usual guaranties receives a concession of land in his third year of service and is obliged to commence forthwith the exploitation of the lot given him. During the two previous years he has already passed in the island, he has acquired a certain amount of experience as to the natives of the district in which he has resided, the nature of the soil and its resources, while he has made himself more or less familiar with the language. The concession he has taken has not been imposed on him; he has chosen it himself, and he will work it in the manner he thinks best. During the first year, at least, he has not to trouble himself with the absolute necessaries of life, as, being still a soldier, the State feeds and clothes him. Further, the Government provides him with some agricultural instruments and a few head of cattle. If the military colonist fulfills expectations in his work, he is lent a little money at long credit and without interest; if, on the contrary, he proves himself unworthy, the concession is taken from him and he returns to the ranks.

Such is the system initiated by General Gallieni in Madagascar. Already, over fifty soldier colonists are in possession of their concessions and are in a fair way of becoming independent and useful members of the community. A brief history of one of them will suffice for all.

Corporal B received a concession of 250 acres in 1898 and commenced by planting potatoes, which at the end of the year brought him $300. The following year he built stables for his cattle, sheep, and goats and constructed a baking oven. His kitchen garden furnished him with all the vegetables necessary for his own consumption, and the surplus he sold on the markets. In that year, he was visited by a general en passant, who was so pleased with his inspection that he gave him $200, which was immediately employed in increasing his number of cattle. At the close of the year, he wrote to his colonel to say that he had put 25 acres under rice, a crop expected to give a return of $2,000. A short time ago, he sent in an inventory showing the value of his tenement, cattle, etc., which amounted to nearly $4,000.

Encouraged by the above results, it is probable that the governor of Madagascar will give considerable extension to this system of colonization.

FIFTH REGIMENT NOTES

Company "C" participated in the reunion of the 53d Regiment, P. V. I., at Williamsburg, last week, and also gave a parade in Altoona on the occasion of the corner-stone laying of the public building.

Much interest is being taken in the appointment of the new battalion adjutant. There are a number of applications.

Col. Patterson, I. G. R. P., and Col. Barnett of the 10th, were callers at Regimental Headquarters recently.

All the companies of the regiment are now either equipped with the canvas uniforms or have their requisitions forwarded for them.

Rifle practice has been taken hold of with a vigor and already a large number of good scores have been received at Regimental Headquarters. It is the intention of Lieutenant Caldwell, I. R. P., to put a first-class team in the field this fall to compete at the State shoots.

Captain Leonard, the young officer of the U. S. Marine Corps, who saved the life of Captain Butler at the battle of Tien Sien, losing an arm through his brave act, is in command of the model Marine Camp at the Pan-American. This company went through the severest part of the China campaign and are now resting on their laurels, being detailed at the Government Building.

Captain Leonard is a very excellent officer and the boys swear by him. Each evening after retreat he puts them through an exhibition drill on the esplanade, which is very interesting to the many visitors. On the evening of June 17th, the writer had the pleasure of witnessing one of these drills and noted a very neat compliment paid the boys by Sousa. At the conclusion of the drill, and when about to return to camp, Sousa immediately gave them "Marching Through Georgia." All through the drill Prof. Sousa displayed a marked interest in their movements, clearly showing his regard for the branch of the service in which he served so long and from which he achieved so much fame.

The men in the 3d Brigade should not forget to patronize their old time friend, Mr. George Ehrhorn, Iron City Brewery, Lebanon, Pa. Mr. Ehrhorn has all the facilities for supplying the commands with both bottled and keg beer.

COLONEL SWEENEY'S REPORT

National Guard of Pennsylvania,
Inspector General's Office,
Chester, July 8, 1901.

General Thomas J. Stewart, Adjutant General of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Penn'a.:

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith reports of the inspection of the Division, National Guard of Pennsylvania and Naval Force of Pennsylvania, made in compliance with General Orders Nos. 52 and 53, A. G. O., series 1900.

In addition to the matter enclosed the Inspectors have made detailed reports of the errors in drill for all commands, excepting the Ninth and Thirteenth Regiments, and copies of same have been forwarded by this Department to the Company Commanders, through the several Brigade Headquarters. In the Ninth and Thirteenth Regiments, the Captains were advised of errors by the Inspector verbally, on the evening of inspection.

The Inspectors report improvement along certain lines, but I regret to learn that little attention is given to the primary drill "School of the Soldier," which accounts for the indifferent bearing of the men in and out of ranks, and the sort of "get there" methods necessary in executing movements in drills.

The Inspector General is inclined to give considerable credence to the statement of the Inspector of the Second Brigade, "that the criticisms contained in inspection reports, and orders in general are read by but few officers."

The continued report of deficiencies of officers impels the Inspector General respectfully to recommend that a series of questions be compiled by the Adjutant General, to be used by all examining boards in the examination of officers and non-commissioned officers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania.

Especial attention is invited to the following criticisms, suggestions and recommendations, of the several Inspectors, all of which are concurred in by the Inspector General:

"That a uniform file for orders be furnished all commands." The Inspector General would recommend the United States Army file.

"The question of Armories, particularly in the Second Brigade." (Major Jefferis.)

"To the improper care of State property in many organizations, and the adoption of proper places for keeping same." (Majors Jefferis and Clarke.) The suggestion of Major Clarke touching this matter appears excellent.

"For the proper marking of property at the State Arsenal." (Major Jefferis.)

"That four months be allowed in which to make the Spring inspection." (Major Clarke.)

"That more space be allowed in new issue of Hutter Book, under the heading General Orders, Headquarters, N. G. P." (Major Clarke.)

"The four defective Gatling Guns of Battery C." (Col. Potter.)

The Naval Force of Pennsylvania was inspected by the Inspector General on board the U. S. S. St. Louis. Improvement in both Divisions was noticeable; limited space, however, prevented the proper manoeuvreing of even so small a body of men, either in Infantry or Artillery. No return of State Property was furnished, but the property was displayed for inspection, and the major part seemed to be in serviceable condition. In enrollment, both Divisions were below the minimum limit; then, too, neither paraded its full strength. In justice to the commanding officers, it is proper to report that both account for diminished numbers by recent discharge of men for cause, and they further stated that they knew it would occasion question at the inspection, but the welfare of the service made such action necessary. Nevertheless, the Inspector General is satisfied, that it is not possible to maintain two Divisions, with the full complement of officers and men, and would, therefore, respectfully recommend that the force be reduced to one Division, which, in his judgment, can be held in full strength in effective form, and this too, with much less cost to the State. He would also suggest that the General Government be requested to withdraw the U. S. S. St. Louis and U. S. S. Shearwater, and furnish in their stead a steel ship after the Shearwater's type, though large enough to accommodate properly one Division. No doubt for such kind of boat wharfage could be had at a more convenient place on the river front, and with it might be secured additionally sufficient floor space for the proper training of the Division, in Infantry and Artillery work ashore.

Very respectfully,
FRANK G. SWEENEY,
Inspector General.

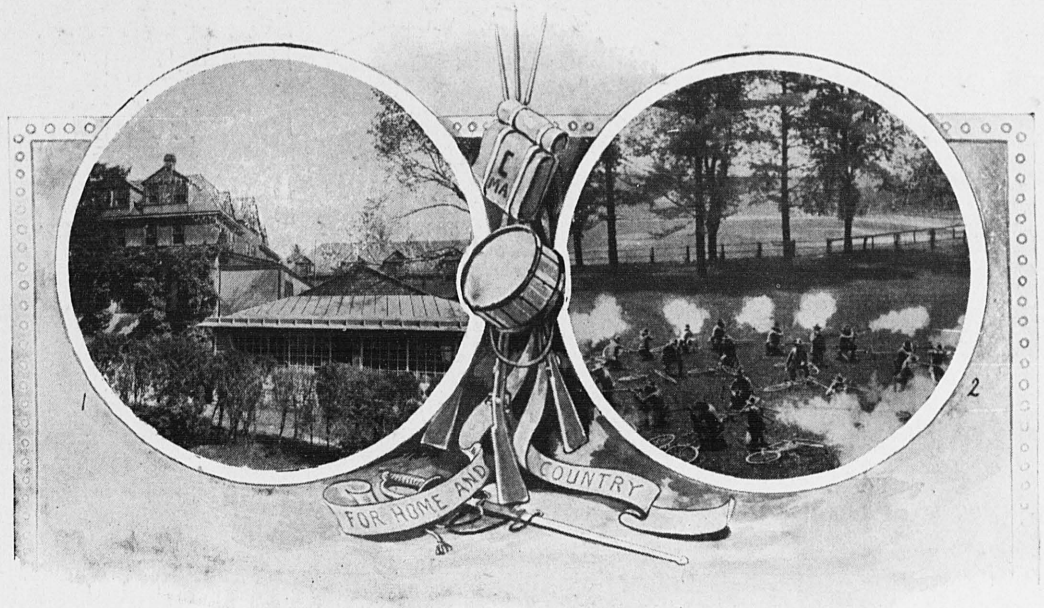
"AN IDEAL SCHOOL IN AN IDEAL LOCATION"



CHELTENHAM MILITARY ACADEMY, on the summit of the Chelten Hills near Philadelphia, has a location and environment rarely equaled for beauty and healthfulness. The School was founded twenty-eight years ago by the late Rev. Samuel Clements, D. D., and from its opening has had the best class of patronage and has met with unusual success in the training and education of young men and boys. A majority of its graduates enter leading colleges or scientific schools, and for the past six years its annual representation in such institutions has been equal to one-half the attendance of the school.

Among the features that have contributed to the success and popularity of the Academy, the following will at once commend themselves to judicious parents: 1. The attendance is limited to seventy boarding pupils, in order that the classes may not be so large as to render attention to the individual pupil inconvenient or impossible. 2. Ten resident instructors (an average of one for every seven cadets), selected for their ability and experience and for their willingness to take an interest in the welfare and happiness of the pupils. 3. An honest endeavor to train and educate the whole boy rather than to merely prepare him to pass college entrance examinations. 4. The moral tone and influence of the institution.

Parents seeking the right school for a boy are cordially invited to visit the Academy, or to communicate with the Principal. Rooms are a-signed in order of application.
